Thank You and Welcome Back to Your Zoo!

Thanks to your generosity and unwavering support of your Birmingham Zoo, 2021 allowed us to begin welcoming back more Zoo members and guests, begin reintroducing "animal encounters" and work towards resuming normal operations. Even with some residual limitations caused by the pandemic, we were able to meet some of those challenges with safe and creative solutions, including virtual camps and the planning of socially-distanced in-person events and experiences.

Despite the difficulties of the long year of emergence from the shadow of Covid-19, your Zoo maintained its commitment to supporting conservation efforts around the world from the International Elephant and Rhino Foundations, the Giraffe Conservation Foundation, the Turtle Survival Alliance, AZA's African Lion and Orangutan SAFE initiatives, the Chipangali Large Carnivore Project, and the Coral Restoration Foundation.

Your Zoo was asked to participate in a Gopher Tortoise Headstart Program, accepting 29 hatchlings from the Alabama Department of Conservation and Natural Resources to raise and release back into their natural habitat with a better chance of survival. We also welcomed baby howler monkey, Miko, as part of the Species Survival Plan (SSP) program for this iconic — and vocal! — neotropical monkey.

As part of the BEE A Pollinator Hero program, Zoo staff devoted over 1,000 hours reclaiming habitat for bees, butterflies, and other pollinators, planted over 200 native pollinator plants, rebuilt raised planting beds and other butterfly and pollinator gardens. This important effort helps to showcase actions everyone can take to support conservation.

We welcomed new female bongo, Merida, who was recommended by the SSP to join male Nakuru, who joined our Zoo family in 2020. Gizmo, the red panda, also joined us as an ambassador for his endangered species. A new and visually stunning lionfish habitat debuted to raise awareness of the damage caused by this invasive species in the Southeast U.S. and the Caribbean.

An outpouring of community support for your Zoo during the pandemic led to another record breaking year for ZooRendezvous, raising $515,000 for the Zoo's Emergency Animal Fund.

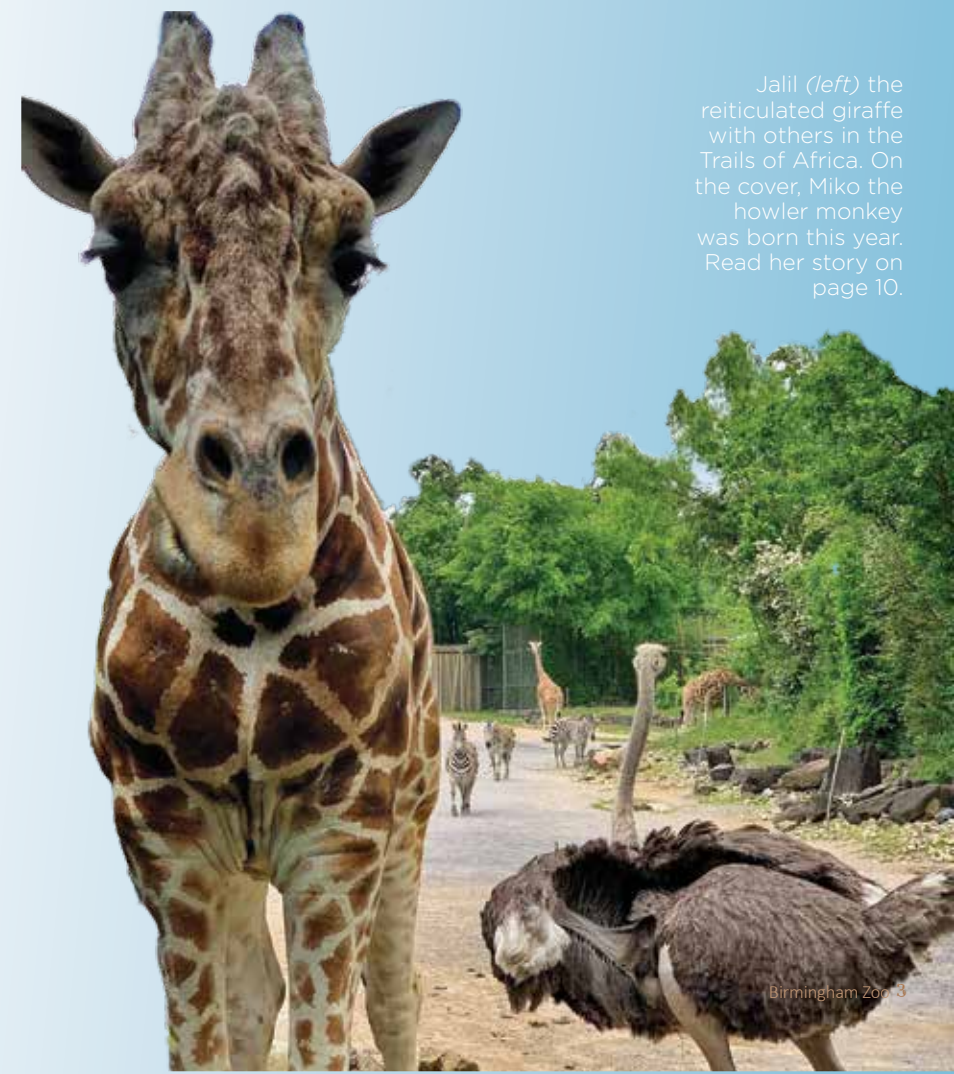

The new fan favorite event, Glow Wild, returned to the Zoo mid-November through mid-January with a larger-than-life illuminated display of flora and fauna from around the world. Our Jr. Board's 'Tails in the Trails event raised $127,600, benefitting the new Cougar Crossing habitat. Hoots & Howls and Zoo Brews: Drafts at A Distance returned to in-person gatherings.

We are proud of what we have been able to achieve through your outpouring of generosity in these challenging times as we continue to reimagine the promising future of your Zoo! We look forward to sharing new animals, events, and activities with you throughout the rest of 2022; join us as we continue to turn our passion into conservation action!

Chris Pfeifferkorn
President & CEO

LET'S MAKE MEMORIES

NEW ADDITIONS BY DESIGN

While new Zoo arrivals enthrall and educate, they also enhance the lives of animals already with us and often play an intentional part in global conservation plans.

Bravo for Bongo

Newcomer Merida, part of the Bongo SSP program, is now a female companion for Nakuru (right), the Zoo's first eastern bongo welcomed last year. These African forest antelopes are two of only 185 such animals found in 36 U.S. zoos, which, sadly, totals more than those found in nature throughout all of Kenya. Forest habitat loss and hunting to collect their fur, horns, and meat have critically endangered these distinctive animals. It's hoped Merida and Nakuru will breed, enhancing the bongo population.

Peppy Panda

The Zoo's recently acquired red panda Gizmo (left) may be shy, but he adores bamboo and naps. He is most active between dawn and dusk, including the Zoo's open hours. With only 2,500 red pandas still in the wild, Gizmo serves as an ambassador for his endangered species, whose populations are declining in their native Nepal, China, and Myanmar.

Fond Farewell

An iconic animal member of the Zoo was lost when 16-year-old male African lion Kwanza (above) was euthanized in November due to several age-related health issues, including kidney disease and lymphoma. Born on December 24, 2004 at the Cameron Park Zoo in Waco, Texas, Kwanza joined the Birmingham Zoo in February 2006. Five years later, he fathered a large litter of five cubs, greatly enhancing conservation efforts for the species. His majestic presence and hearty roar will be missed.

Flightless Fun

Charlize, an ostrich from Longneck Farm in Kansas, arrived to serve as a companion to Rhea. Both females enjoy wowing guests with their natural behavior of dancing and displaying their sizable wings.

"OUR ZOO IS A SPECIAL PLACE."
Lynda Kern

SAVING A SPECIES

The Zoo's southern white rhinos, mother and daughter Laptop and Ajabu, as well as male Max, made an important move to a private habitat in the southern U.S. with a larger herd. The decision was made in partnership with the Association of Zoos and Aquariums (AZA) as part of the White Rhino Species Survival Plan (SSP).

White rhinos fall in the near-threatened category and tend to have more breeding success in larger facilities. Hopefully, parenthood will follow for the new arrivals from Birmingham.

In the early 1900s, it was estimated that only 50 white rhinos remained in their native Africa. In recent years thanks to intensive conservation efforts, that number has increased to over 17,000 individuals, but poaching still seriously threatens the species.

To prepare for their move, all three Birmingham Zoo rhinos were trained to enter crates for transportation. Food enticed each rhino to the crate entrances, then deeper into the space for longer intervals. By the end of training, the rhinos entered the crates voluntarily and settled quickly with the doors closed.

Moving the white rhinos allowed your Zoo the opportunity to transition their habitat into a future home for black rhinos, another iconic species in need of focused attention. Changes are underway at the Zoo for the expected new arrivals in the summer of 2022. Get ready for the crash!

* Fun fact: A group of rhinos is called a crash.

Record-breaking Rendezvous

The outpouring of community support for your Zoo and its animals during the pandemic led to another record-breaking year! The annual ZooRendezvous exceeded fundraising expectations topping its $450,000 goal and raising a whopping $515,000 for the Zoo's Emergency Animal Fund. Honorary Chairs Karen and Phil Carroll and the Carroll Family, along with Event Chairs (left) Melanie Hennessy, Jenny McInerney, and Alexia Borden, welcomed guests to the Roaring 20s-themed virtual program presented by First Horizon Foundation (formerly Iberiabank). Entertaining Zoo education, animal videos, blooper reels, and even "Charleston" dance instructions were viewed by hundreds via YouTube and Facebook. The online auction also helped ensure the event's huge success.

ENDURING CONNECTIONS

The valued community and volunteer support enable the Zoo to be a leading resource in conservation and promote meaningful connections to the natural world.

Education Excellence

When COVID forced schools to transition to virtual classrooms, the Zoo's Education Department immediately followed suit by creating Digital Discovery programs. The 30- to 45-minute synchronous virtual lessons, based on conservation and designed for K-12 students, were a tremendous hit during the 2020-2021 school year. Even when restrictions lifted and the Zoo could ease closer to "business as usual" with in-person field trip programming returning, the Digital Discovery programs continued to be popular, with more than 5,600 participants in 2021.

ZOO 1ST

Hee-Haw

Chaucer (right), the Zoo's first miniature donkey, made himself at home in the Junior League of Birmingham Hugh Kaul Children's Zoo walking around the grounds, greeting the goats and chickens, and chowing down on grass at the pond. The crowd-pleaser celebrated his fourth birthday on December 1.

Fish Fiends

Phil, the Zoo's first lionfish, represents a species boasting a variety of nicknames including zebrafish, devil firefish, and peacock lionfish. With no known predators, this invasive species is damaging native animals and plants in the Southeast U.S. and in the Caribbean. Phil, in a brand new habitat in the Primates/South America building, educates guests on the harm of releasing aquarium fish into the wild.

Bird Beauty

A beautiful fruit dove chick — that's the actual name, not just our opinion — was the first of its species to hatch at the Zoo and be successfully raised by his parents. The Birmingham Zoo is one of only 20 zoos participating in the Species Survival Plan (SSP) for this colorful bird. The chick's birth is significant to the program and, good news, the parent pair is nesting again!

"I KNOW IT TAKES A VILLAGE TO MAINTAIN THE ZOO AND I ENJOY HELPING."

Louise Mayo

Howler Monkey

A new baby howler monkey was born at your Zoo on May 3 as part of the Species Survival Plan (SSP). Named Miko (left), her proud parents are mother Matea and father Monte. Howler monkeys have a reputation for being the loudest land animal, said to produce sounds that can be heard up to three miles away. In the wild, the howler monkey is native to northern Argentina, eastern Bolivia, Paraguay, and southern Brazil.

Gopher Tortoise Headstart Program

The Zoo was selected to receive 29 gopher tortoise hatchlings from the Alabama Department of Conservation and Natural Resources. Born in the wild, the young are brought into human care before being released back into their natural habitat. In the case of gopher tortoises, research has shown a strong correlation between survival and hatchling size. The hands-on effort will conserve a significant keystone species found only in the southeastern United States.

GLOBAL PASSION, LOCAL IMPACT

With the pandemic continuing to restrict global conservation efforts, the Zoo focused on the rich array of plants and animals in our own backyard.

Saving Animals From Extinction

The Zoo participated in four AZA Save Animals From Extinction (SAFE) programs that impact Alabama species.

- North American Monarch Butterfly
- Eastern Indigo Snake
- North American Songbird
- Acropora Coral

Chipangali Large Carnivore Project

The Zoo plays an ongoing and integral part in supporting the Chipangali Wildlife Orphanage and Research Centre in Bulawayo, Zimbabwe. The nonprofit rescues and cares for orphaned, injured, abandoned, abused, or confiscated Southern African wild animals. CEO Chris Pfefferkorn serves on its board, and staff continues their work on the Chipangali Large Carnivore project, conducting biodiversity studies on leopards and brown hyena populations near Matopos National Park.

Pollinator Conservation

As part of BEE a Pollinator Hero program, Zoo staff devoted over 1,000 hours reclaiming or creating habitat for bees, butterflies, and other pollinators. They planted over 200 native perennial pollinator plants, rebuilt 23 raised beds at Shades Valley, improved the Zoo's certified Monarch Butterfly Waystation, and reestablished a pollinator garden at GiGi's porch in the Zoo's Alabama Wilds area.

Reaching the World

The Zoo provided financial support for conservation efforts around the world:

- International Elephant Foundation
- Tarangire Elephant Project
- International Rhino Foundation
- Giraffe Conservation Foundation
- Turtle Survival Alliance
- African Lion SAFE
- Orangutan SAFE

Atlantic Acropora Coral

Interpretation & Onsite Programs Manager Jesse Daniel helped restore devastated corals in the Florida Reef Tract — the third largest barrier reef in the world — alongside researchers at the Florida Aquarium, the Coral Restoration Foundation, and Mote Marine Lab.

STRENGTH & SACRIFICE

Zoo staff faced another year of uncertainty under COVID, continually adapting and facing personal vulnerability to protect the animals in their care and our visitors.

Taking Care of Business

When the Zoo reopened to guests after COVID shutdowns, measures were taken to keep the animals and guests safe. Among them were closing the Kiwanis Giraffe Encounter and the Lorikeet Habitat. Both experiences draw large crowds to these unique opportunities for close animal interaction, and there was not enough space to safely allow visitors to queue. Instead, guests could watch the animals in their habitats but not interact with them as before.

When the Zoo reopened the encounters in 2021, the number of tickets sold for each activity was limited. For the Kiwanis Giraffe Encounter, in particular, all guests had to wear masks, and only one household group could enter the feeding area at a time. With lower case numbers in the Birmingham area, staff and visitors were excited to return to typical operations in early 2022.

"I HAVE BEEN ATTENDING THE BIRMINGHAM ZOO SINCE I WAS A CHILD.

IT IS SUCH AN IMPORTANT PLACE FOR FAMILIES TO VISIT AND LEARN ABOUT ANIMALS."

Natalie Asman

Sprucing Up

The Reptile House isn't designed for one-way traffic, so the Zoo chose to temporarily shutter the space to prevent the risk of virus spread. The Zoo used this opportunity to give the interior walls a fresh coat of paint, install new graphics, and add a mural by Birmingham artist Shawn Fitzwater. A second mural was also added to the Komodo habitat in preparation for the arrival of Mad Max (right).

Conquering COVID

Concerned that animals could catch COVID-19 from the professionals caring for them, the Zoo vaccinated high-risk animals such as cats, primates, otters, and ferrets. Early in the fall, the Zoo received a generous donation of vaccines from global animal health company Zoetis. The experimental SARS-CoV-2 vaccine was made specifically for animals and was authorized for use by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the Alabama State Veterinarian.

Before the vaccinations could be administered to all of the high-risk animals, the African lions, Kwanza and Akili, started showing signs of sickness: Kwanza's appetite decreased, and Akili started sneezing. Testing of their fecal samples confirmed they had COVID-19. Both lions fully recovered from their symptoms. The Zoo's established health and safety protocols ensured no other animals got sick.

BULWAGI, GADZE & LUTI

The three bull African elephants completed training for rear leg blood draws, used for health monitoring, as well as collecting plasma, which is stored for possible future transfusions. The rear leg provides the safest access for staff and ease for the elephants, who are trained to back up to a barrier separating staff and the animals.

CARLITO

The Zoo's giant anteater learned to participate in voluntary cardiac ultrasounds. After discovering Carlito had an enlarged heart during a routine exam, the Zoo's giant anteater learned to enter a modified crate with an access panel, and accept the staff touching his chest and applying ultrasound gel.

THE UTMOST CARE

The Zoo uses positive reinforcement training to care for our animals and to allow us to provide excellent veterinary care. It takes a lot of dedication and skill by our animal care professionals to train these behaviors and build trust with the animals.

"THE ZOO GIVES MANY THE CHANCE TO SEE MAGNIFICENT CREATURES IN PERSON AND APPRECIATE THEM. I GIVE TO ENCOURAGE ITS FUTURE."

Barbara Chapman, Zoo volunteer

JALIL & WILLOW

Our reticulated giraffes learned to calmly stand for skull radiographs needed to monitor changes in eating, weight, and body condition and to diagnose Willow's (shown here) mandibular tooth issues.

CELEBRATE

Glow Wild

Glow Wild returned to the Zoo mid-November through January with larger-than-life illuminated hand-painted silk lantern figures representing wild flora and fauna from around the world. Zoo goers were awestruck by the glowing fields of flower blossoms, exotic birds, massive elephants, darting cheetahs, and fire-spitting dragons — some soaring up to 30 feet high!

Hoots & Howls

Our family-friendly Halloween-themed Hoots & Howls fall festival, generously sponsored by Publix Super Markets Charities, returned to the Zoo for three consecutive weekends in October. Guests of all ages came to the Zoo dressed in their costumes ready to explore, ride the Haunted Red Diamond Express Train, and take a spin on the Protective Cobweb Carousel. The animals enjoyed holiday-themed enrichment activities to stimulate their brains, engage them in natural behaviors, and provide them with exercise.

Zoo Brews

The seventh Zoo Brews in mid-April showcased beers from a dozen craft breweries and offered guests dining fare from food trucks and the Zoo's Wild Burger restaurant. Abiding by ABC regulations, Zoo Brews operated with a "penny-a-pour" system. All pennies collected during the night were donated to the Zoo's Emergency Animal Fund.

'Tails in the Trails

Following last year's online event, the Junior Board of Directors and participants returned in October to the Zoo's Hugh Kaul Plaza for this popular and important fundraiser. Guests savored live music by Nationwide Coverage, favorite dishes from local restaurants, a silent auction, beer, wine, and two specialty cocktails. The event raised $127,600 for the Zoo's new Cougar Crossing habitat for a cougar and for the Zoo's 17-year-old bobcat, Bob. The project is an opportunity for the Zoo to share with visitors how humans can peacefully coexist with bobcats and cougars.

THE ZOO IS A GEM IN AN AMAZING CITY AND I HOPE TO SEE IT PROSPER. THANKS FOR THE AMAZING WORK YOU DO FOR THE ANIMALS."

2021 VOLUNTEERS

We cannot say enough about the commitment of these 145 volunteers. They gave over 12,149 hours to help to help their Zoo through a challenging year due to the pandemic. Our volunteers truly are venerable!

Beeson Wildlife Legacy

The Beeson Wildlife Legacy recognizes those who have made lasting gifts to the Birmingham Zoo through their bequest or other planned gift. The name honors Mrs. Lucille S. Beeson, a lawyer and philanthropist known for her incredible generosity, and for whom the Beeson Way walkway around Henley Park was named. She thoughtfully donated the Zoo’s first planned gift, demonstrating her abiding love for all animals.

We gratefully recognize these members of the Beeson Wildlife Legacy —

- Lucille S. Beeson Charitable Trust
  - Cynthia and George Butler
  - Dr. John Durr Elmore*
  - William R. Foster, DVM, and Jean Cecil
  - Cissy Jackson
  - Estate of Ingeborg M. Johnson*
  - Jerry D. Kimbrough
